Lecture Series: Learning from the Past

The Role of the Soldier

with author Gavin Watt

Sunday, April 27th, 2 to 4 pm

King City Library, 1970 King Rd

Local author Gavin Watt is a military historian and his latest book is Poisoned by Lies and Hypocrisy - America's First Attempt to Bring Liberty to Canada. He is a founder of the Service Rifle Shooting Association, the King's Royal Yorkers, the Museum of Applied Military History and the Canadian Military Heritage Museum. He has lectured at CFB Borden and Gagetown. Gavin is the recipient of numerous awards for his contributions to Canadian military history.

Future lectures in the series Learning from the Past will look at other occupations in the early settlements and compare them to the present. We hope to include the roles of the Blacksmith, Educator, Carpenter, Farmer, Herbalist etc.
